To compare a new method of measuring calf circumference in the neonatal period based on a new trans-peritoneal ultrasound machine with the traditional method. Retrospective study. Mater Misericordiae Dei Siena is a regional perinatal quality unit for the management of intrapartum and immediate postpartum care in north-west Italy. From 1 January 1994 to 31 December 1999, 63,841 births were recorded. The two methods of measuring calf circumference were compared in a population of 14,670 newborns. The new machine for measuring calf circumference was introduced in January 1994; before that, a different model of ultrasound machine had been used. The study period covered the period of transition and was divided into three groups: group I, from 1 January 1994 to 30 June 1994, from which the new device was introduced (n=5,683); group II, from 1 July 1994 to 31 December 1998 (n=6,842) and group III, from 1 January 1999 to 31 December 1999 (n=4,483). The use of the new device for measuring calf circumference was much more frequent in the first two groups than in the third group. The following pattern emerged in this population of newborns: the new device for measuring calf circumference seemed to be widely accepted by paediatricians and obstetricians. The results from this new device were not objectively better than those from the previous machine; however, they were used more frequently because of the availability of the new apparatus.Q: How to get last record which not more than 3 days ago I have a table, it has a row id, name, message_no and created_date for eg id|name|message_no|created_date 1 |A |1 |2019-04-18 02:00:00 2 |B |1 |2019-04-17 02:00:00 3 |C |1 6d1f23a050
